RE: Stevens v. DHS (N.D. Ill. 14-cv-3305), FOIA Case Number 2013FOIA32547 (Detainee Volunteer Wages)

Dear Mr. Free:

This letter is the twenty fifth interim release in response to the ongoing Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) litigation between Jacqueline Stevens and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), relating to FOIA requests submitted by your client regarding, in part, ICE's detention facilities. This release is in response to your August 24, 2013, FOIA request seeking records pertaining to Detainee Volunteer Wages.

Your request has been processed under the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552.

This release consists of 237 pages of records located pursuant to a search of the ICE Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO) and the Office of Acquisition Management. After review of those records, ICE has determined that portions of those pages will be withheld pursuant to FOIA Exemptions, (b)(4), (b)(6), (b)(7)(C) and (b)(7)(E) of the FOIA as described below.

ICE has applied Exemption 4 to protect from disclosure financial information for services provided under contract.

FOIA Exemption 4 protects trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person that is privileged or confidential. The courts have held that this subsection protects (a) confidential commercial information, the disclosure of which is likely to cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the person who submitted the information and (b) information that was voluntarily submitted to the government if it is the kind of information that the provider would not customarily make available to the public. ICE has reviewed the responsive documents and relevant case law, and has determined that portions of the responsive records are exempt from disclosure under subsection (b)(4) of the FOIA and must be withheld in order to protect the submitter's proprietary interests.

ICE has applied Exemptions (b)(6) and (b)(7)(C) of the FOIA to protect from disclosure, in part, the names, phone numbers, email addresses, and other personally identifiable information of ICE employees and contractor employees. Further ICE applied Exemptions (b)(6) and (b)(7)(C) to the names and A-file numbers of ICE detainees and to the names and addresses of other third parties.

FOIA Exemption (b)(6) exempts from disclosure personnel or medical files and similar files the release of which would cause a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This requires a balancing of the public's right to disclosure against the individual's right to privacy. The privacy interests of the individuals in the records you have requested outweigh any minimal public interest in disclosure of the information. Any private interest you may have in that information does not factor into the aforementioned balancing test.

FOIA Exemption (b)(7)(C) protects records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes that could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This exemption takes particular note of the strong interests of individuals, whether they are suspects, witnesses, or investigators, in not being unwarrantably associated with alleged criminal activity. That interest extends to persons who are not only the subjects of the investigation, but those who may have their privacy invaded by having their identities and information about them revealed in connection with an investigation. Based upon the traditional recognition of strong privacy interest in law enforcement records, categorical withholding of information that identifies third parties in law enforcement records is ordinarily appropriate. As such, ICE has determined that the privacy interest in the identities of individuals in the records you have requested clearly outweigh any minimal public interest in disclosure of the information. Please note that any private interest you may have in that information does not factor into this determination.

ICE has applied FOIA Exemption 7(E) to protect from disclosure internal agency case numbers contained within the document.

FOIA Exemption 7(E) protects records compiled for law enforcement purposes, the release of which would disclose techniques and/or procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. I have determined that disclosure of certain law enforcement sensitive information contained within the responsive records could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law. Additionally, the techniques and procedures at issue are not well known to the public.

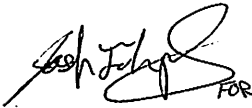

ICE is continuing to process records that are potentially responsive to your request, and will release those records to you on a rolling basis.
